

POULSBO IN THE PRESS

Sponsored by City of Poulsbo Planning and Economic Development

VOL. 2015 ISSUE 11

7.20.15

A curation of positive economic related news in the vibrant Poulsbo area

Poulsbo grocer now cultivating farmers

Written by Tad Sooter/Kitsap Peninsula Business Journal

Cherries were ripening across Washington in June, so Joe Pulicicchio hit the road. The produce specialist roamed from orchard to orchard in the Columbia Basin, traveling hundreds of miles between farms. He looked over the fruit ripening on trees. He sampled new cherry varieties. He listened to growers talk about how the unseasonable . . . continue reading

State Parks Commission meets this week in Poulsbo

Written by Tristan Baurick/Kitsap Sun

In a rare visit to Kitsap County, the state Parks Commission will hold its regular meeting this week at Poulsbo City Hall. The two-day meeting marks the first time in seven years the commission has met in Kitsap. The commission holds its seven. . . continue reading

Biocom Technologies, Manufacturer of Hrv Instruments, Offers Heart Track Professional Edition

Written by Richard Walker/North Kitsap Herald

Biocom Technologies, a globally-acclaimed researcher and developer of heart rate variability (HRV) testing software and devices, has brought to its buyers the Heart Tracker Professional Edition; an HRV biofeedback device that improves health by reducing the effects of stress on the body. . . continue reading

Poulsbo planning director: No negative impacts from port liveaboard proposal

Written by North Kitsap Herald

The proposed conversion of 13 boat moorage slips to liveaboard moorage at the Port of Poulsbo marina would not "have a probable significant adverse impact on the environment," Poulsbo Planning Director Barry Berezowsky determined July 17. The city is accepting public comments on the proposal until . . . continue reading

Look who's reading this summer

Written by Sharon S. Lee/North Kitsap Herald

It's true: Adults can be seen reading all over the county this summer. It may have something to do with the hot weather and a desire to engage minds while relaxing in cool places. It may also have to do with the fact that the library's Summer Learning Program has expanded beyond engaging children and teens . . . continue reading

