Best Places to Start a Business in Washington

Written by Jonathan Todd/NerdWallet

Washington is a great place to start a business. Just take a look at Amazon, Microsoft, Starbucks and Costco, which all grew into national and international corporations in the Evergreen State. Companies hoping to follow in the footsteps of those giants can benefit from the state’s educated and skilled workforce, not to mention funding opportunities. . . continue reading

Poulsbo RV may return to Viking Avenue

Written by Richard Walker/North Kitsap Herald

Poulsbo RV may return to its namesake city. The RV show it is presenting on Sept. 11-27 on its vacant Viking Avenue lot is a test, Poulsbo RV Auburn manager Randy Edwards told the Herald on Sept. 4. If it looks like there’s enough consumer support for an RV dealership in Poulsbo, the ultimate vacation vehicle could once again be a daily presence on the thoroughfare. Mayor Becky Erickson is excited. . . continue reading

Poulsbo Receives a Gold Star for Its Financial Health

Written by PRWEB

The numbers show economic growth is strong in and around Poulsbo, and the City just received a new set of numbers that are the best yet. Or rather, a coveted pair of letters. . . At a time when Standard & Poor’s is cautiously downgrading many municipalities, Poulsbo has earned a AA Bond Rating—one of the few cities of its size granted that strong vote of confidence. . . . New Starbucks Reusable Cups Designed By Baristas Available Now In Participating US and Canada Starbucks Stores

Written by EPR Retail News Editors

. . . Distinct images on Starbucks reusable cups were designed by baristas who won the first White Cup Contest for partners (employees). The new cups are available now, while supplies last, in participating U.S. and Canada Starbucks stores. Meet the designers and find out how purchasing one of the cups helps Starbucks partners support each other. . . Brynn James.

Scandinavian immigrants brought their Nordic traditions with them when they arrived in Poulsbo, Washington in the late 1800s. Those included a style of art that Brynn James learned as a child and incorporated into her design. Rosemaling is a decorative form of folk painting that began in eastern Norway around the . . .
