

POULSBO IN THE PRESS

Sponsored by City of Poulsbo Planning and Economic Development

VOL. 2015, ISSUE 2

4.24.15

A curation of positive economic related news in the vibrant Poulsbo area

---

The Next Big Names in Washington Beer

Written by Allecia Vermillion/Seattle Met

From Bellingham to Yakima, 8 new breweries to watch. . . Finding Sound's 22-ounce bottles on a store shelf is like winning an Easter egg hunt. They're more elegant than your average beer; so is what's inside. . . continue reading

---

Poulsbo Rotary hopes to see biking Vikings

Written by Tristan Baurick/Kitsap Sun

The Poulsbo Rotary Club is banking on cyclists. The club is organizing what it hopes will rank as one of Kitsap County's largest cycling events and one of the club's most lucrative fundraisers . . . continue reading

---

Local bookseller part of Independent Bookstore Day

Written by Kitsap Business Journal

Liberty Bay Books in Poulsbo will be one of the participants in Independent Bookstore Day on May 2nd. The promotion is modeled on last year's California Bookstore Day led by the Northern California Booksellers Association. With 93 bookstores participating. . . continue reading

---

Columnist collecting books for school library in Sierra Leone

Written by Kingston Community News

Martha Rabura, a junior at Kingston High School and candidate for the highest rank in Girl Scouts, is starting a library at Mallory Jansen Memorial School in Banta, Sierra Leone. The school was founded by Children of the Nations, a nonprofit based in Poulsbo. . . continue reading

---

Kitsap water system wins state award

Written by Central Kitsap Reporter

Washington is known for clean, tasty drinking water. And every year during the first week of May, state health officials honor the hardworking individuals who ensure the water coming out of our faucets is safe. . . continue reading

---

Kitsap hopes to see some green from U.S. Open

Written by Tad Sooter/Kitsap Sun

Two months from now 235,000 golf fans will descend on Chambers Bay, a public course south of Tacoma. They'll spend a week watching some of golf's biggest names vie for a U.S. Open championship, the first ever held in the Pacific Northwest. . . continue reading

---

City of Poulsbo
Planning and Economic Development
200 NE Moe Street
Poulsbo, WA 98370
(360) 394.9748
plan&econ@cityofpoulsbo.com

