A tour of chocolate shops and cafes from Gig Harbor to Poulsbo

Written by Sue Kidd/The Olympian

A chocolate company founded by a 15-year-old. Artisan chocolates as pretty as they are delicious. One store with 60 kinds of fudge. Another with more than 200 confections from which to choose. If you're looking for a sweet journey, all you have to do is cross the Tacoma Narrows Bridge for a day trip. From Gig Harbor to Poulsbo, you'll find a half-dozen cafes and boutiques specializing in handmade chocolates and . . . continue reading

There's a lot that's new in old downtown

Written by Richard Walker/North Kitsap Herald

There are several new businesses downtown, each adding to the eclectic, cultural flavor of the historic district. Barna & Co., 18927 Front St., sells infant and children's clothing, as well as classic toys and unique items. Owner Brienne Coultas, former manager of Indigo Plum, said of her store, "It's something unique that you don't find in this area." Indeed. But first, the name: "Barna" is Norwegian for . . . ## Architect-Built Tiny House in

Written by Tom Trimbath/Curbed Seattle

Welcome to Tiny Homes, an idea that is more popular with minimalists than with neighborhood associations and zoning boards. We'll point out the fun parts. You'll have to check out the logistics and legalities—but this one was started by an architect, so you know there was a plan. . . But the real topic is a 448 square-foot house that's on the market at $325,000. If you shopped for it earlier the price was lower. It started out at $265,000 . . . continue reading
