- Provide a well-designed, pedestrian friendly and community-oriented downtown center.
- Respect the character of the City's downtown, waterfront, and residential areas, while allowing for new development, expansion, and renovation that considers the scale and character of the area.
- Accommodate infill development and redevelopment that enhances the quality of city neighborhoods and business areas. {Key goals are integrated into the goals and policies of this chapter}

3.12 Plan Context

The character of a community is influenced by a variety of factors, including its residents, social network, schools, community and business organizations, history, built environment, and natural resources. Although it is not possible to legislate community character, public policy can provide a framework that supports desirable characteristics. Community character cohesiveness can develops in many ways, such as: It can come from a shared vision for the community, It can be nurtured by community events, or: It can be developed through the use of public places for interaction.

The Community Character Chapter provides a design framework for new development and construction shaping the future form and character of Pousbo and is meant to address the goals of retaining Pousbo's distinct character and creating gathering places and cultural opportunities for people of diverse backgrounds. It is intended to help achieve the vision of keeping Pousbo a safe, friendly, and attractive city in the future.

Pousbo faces a number of challenges in continuing to achieve the community's desired land use vision, while accommodating the growth that is expected over the next twenty years. These include:

- Maintain the desired scale and character of Pousbo's downtown core.
- Refinement of commercial design standards and guidelines.
- Preservation of the unique scale and character of Pousbo's existing residential neighborhoods, while allowing redevelopment and improvement.
- Encouraging and allowing mixed use development in the city, while ensuring compatibility and appropriate scale.
- Improvement of the City's aging sidewalk system, while also providing for new pedestrian opportunities and linkages. {Addressed in 3.2}

Community Character is not a required Comprehensive Plan chapter under state law; however, because of the value Pousbo places on its character, the City has chosen to include it as an optional chapter. This chapter plays a critical role in maintaining and improving the quality of the environments that define the City's identity and give character to its commercial districts and residential neighborhoods. This chapter is complimentary to other elements of the Comprehensive Plan, and many of the policies identified in this chapter may be included or further refined in other chapters.

Quality and pleasing design is as important in the details of a building as a development's contribution is to the urban character of the city. Streets and Pathways

Streets and pathways can be more than just a means of getting from one point to another. They can define how the city is viewed as one passes through it and create a sense of unique character. Elements of design, such as width, provisions for different users, material treatments, and vegetation, affect the quality of a traveler's trip and the sense of place. Attracting people into the public realm ~~also~~ means supporting them with safe street crossings, sidewalks, walkways, and bicycle routes as important connections between different places in the city. Downtown Poulsbo

Downtown Poulsbo is a center for recreation, shopping, dining and a boating destination. One of the main reasons people are drawn to Poulsbo is its charming small-scale downtown. Residents can stop by and buy a coffee with their neighbor, have dinner with friends, or take an evening walk along the boardwalk. Tourists love to stroll along Front Street and enjoy Poulsbo's Norwegian heritage and unique shops and restaurants.

Districts and Neighborhoods

Many residents identify where they live, work, or spend their free time as a particular neighborhood. Neighborhoods have differing characteristics and often specific identities. Someone who lives in Old Town experiences a different flavor of the city compared to one who lives off Viking Ave on the north edge of town, and different still from one living in a subdivision on Noll Rd. It is important that each of these neighborhoods be recognized and appreciated for the unique qualities that they add to the overall character of Poulsbo.

Policy CC-6.6

Historic Resources and Landmarks

Historic resources and landmarks offer a way to connect with the city's past and provide a sense of continuity and permanence. Those resources represent development patterns and places associated with Poulsbo's notable persons and community events. The historic fabric together with unique qualities of new development patterns define the character of a city. It is essential to preserve some historic resources to maintain the character of Poulsbo and to continue to honor its past. History is a major aspect of Poulsbo that gives it depth, diversity, and uniqueness. Different parts of the city have their own individual mixture of past events, people, buildings, and celebrations.

Most people are familiar with many visible historic landmarks in Poulsbo, such as First Lutheran Church. There are other places throughout the city that are reminders of the past as well. For example, in 1930 a brick North Kitsap High school was constructed along Front Street. It is now the Poulsbo Parks and Recreation building. Moe, Bjermeland, Eliason, Hostmark, and Iverson Streets were all named after the first Mayor (Andrew Moe) and some of his council members. And church services were first held in 1888 at Fordefjord Lutheran Church, known today as First Lutheran Church.

The City can enrich the lives of its citizens and its appeal to visitors by commemorating its past. In some cases, this may mean active involvement in the preservation of landmarks, or continued support of the efforts of the Poulsbo Historical Society's important task of retaining the link with previous generations.

GOAL CC-67

Protect, conserve, celebrate, and enhance historical, archaeological, and cultural resources throughout the City of Poulsbo.
